Contributors

JOHN BANKS

John Banks is the author of 'Federal Britain?' (Harrap 1971). He was formerly Senior Lecturer in Public Administration at Kingston Polytechnic, and now teaches at the University of the South Pacific.

BRIAN BRIDGE

Brian Bridge is Vice-Chairman of the Industrial Common Ownership Movement (ICOM), lives reluctantly in London, and works reluctantly in the computer industry. He is planning the development of a 'self-management kit' to reduce the dependence of small productive groups on professional direction.

KEITH BUCHANAN

Keith Buchanan is Professor of Geography, Victoria University, Wellington, New Zealand.

PETER CADOGAN

Peter Cadogan, writer and lecturer, lives in Hampstead and is General Secretary of South Place Ethical Society.

STEPHEN HORNE

Stephen Horne, born 1947, was schooled at Merchant Taylors and educated at Oxford. The shock of being obliged to work made him a radical, and his subsequent career as a solicitor's articled clerk completed his conversion to anarchism.

Fr. J. McDYER

Fr. J. McDyer is Parish Priest of Glencolumbkille in County Donegal, and has become widely known for his part in setting up rural co-operatives in Ireland.

SANDRA McDERMOTT

Sandra McDermott is 24, married with a son. She is a freelance writer and author of 'Studies in Female Sexuality' (Odyssey Press).

DEREK WRIGHT

Derek Wright is Senior Lecturer in Sociology at the North Staffs Polytechnic, and is a Liberal councillor in Newcastle-under-Lyme. He belongs to the Radical Bulletin Group which he describes as a kind of Liberal Fabian Society, and which is trying to formulate new directions for a sane and humane society.
