

RESURGENCE

Vol. 1. No. 6

March/April 1967

contents

	Page
THIS ISSUE	2
EDITORIAL : Peace Action	6
Transport	7
The Key to Social Revolution
Jayaprakash Narayan	8
REVIEW : Prison Notes	10
Barbara Deming
POEM : The Enclosure of Helpston	11
John Barrell
Who are the Red Guards	12
Helen Foster Snow
QUOTES :	16
Albert Camms, J. B. Priestley, Paul Goodman
CORRESPONDENCE :	18
Roger Franklin, Werner Pelz, Peter Gorge, Sam Wolfe
Hungarian Notebook	20
John Papworth
POEM : Gardening For Beginners	25
Peter Robins
Resurgence Affairs	28

editorial group

Peter Allen (Circulation), Neil Collins (Money), Graham Keen (Art Work), David Kuhrt, (Poetry Editor), Brenda Jordan, Sybil Morrison.

Editor : John Papworth.

next issue

- The Economics of Intermediate Technology
 E. F. Schumacher
- What Power ? To Whom ?
 Werner Pelz
- ' An Open Letter To Arnold Wesker '
 John Papworth
- Colin Wilson's ' Beyond The Outsider '
 Reviewed by Anne Vogel

Readers' letters are welcomed; the Editor reserves the right to abbreviate correspondence when necessary and when this can be done without altering the substance.

Editorial : 22, Nevern Road, Earls Court, London, S.W.5

Printer: Farmer & Sons Ltd., 295 Edgware Rd., London, W.2

this issue

JOHN BARRELL is 23 years old, married and lives on the Essex coast. Is at present a research student at the University of Essex.

[“ The Enclosure of Helpston ” first appeared in Stand, to which grateful acknowledgement is made.—ED.]

JAYAPRAKASH NARAYAN was educated in the United States and in Britain. He returned to India as an avowed Marxist and for a while was active in the Indian Communist Party. He subsequently abandoned Marxism for Social Democracy, and in the early post-independence period became the Chairman of the Indian Socialist Party. Since then he has moved on to work with the Bhoodan (land gift) movement and has developed his ideas in a number of books, “ Towards the New Society,” “ Swaraj for The People.” A few copies of “ Swaraj for The People ” remain in stock, price 5/- post free from 22 Nevern Road, London, S.W.5.

JOHN PAPWORTH, age 46, is the Editor of Resurgence and became a pacifist after becoming convinced that power politics, however “ left wing,” are merely part of the drive to war. Was formerly a war monger for some years in the R.A.F. and later by being a member of the Labour Party.

PETER ROBINS, a former radio correspondent in Central Africa, has published a book of poems and has had 3 plays broadcast. Is in his late 30's, works for the B.B.C. and lives in South London.

HELEN FOSTER SNOW, who also writes under the pen-name of NYM WALES, lived in China and the Far East for nearly ten years and was a student at Yenching University, Peking in 1934-35. Her literary output, mostly on questions relating to Asian affairs, is tremendous and has included numerous books, articles, encyclopaedia contributions, book reviews and historical essays and researches. Is now living in the U.S.A.

publications

Editors of journals wishing to appear in this column are invited to send details to Resurgence, 22 Nevern Road, London, S.W.5, England.

Voluntary Action (Formerly AVARD) the journal of the Association of Voluntary Agencies for of the Association of Voluntary Agencies for Rural Development. Gives a useful and detailed picture of development work on gandhian lines in India. Available from Housmans, 3/- post free.

The Pacifist. The monthly journal of the Peace Pledge Union. Price 1/- from P.P.U., 6 Endsleigh Street, W.C.1.

New Departures. International Review of literature and the arts. Editor Michael Horovitz, 29 Colville Terrace, London, W.11.

Liberation. Monthly. Editor, Dave Dellinger, £2 p.a. from Housmans, 5 Caledonian Road, N.1.

War Resistance. Quarterly of the W.R.I. Price 1/6. 88 Park Avenue, Enfield, Middlesex.